DR. CATRINA
PULLUM

Breaking the Chains: From Hurting to Healing, is a story in which Catrina Pullum takes you the reader on a journey through her life (which she knows is not only her story). Indeed it's a true from trials-to-triumph story. She speaks on several horrific incidences from being sexually abused at church, to living in a domestic violence relationship, from being born to a teen mother and later becoming one, to alcoholism, divorce and more and how her connection to and relationship with God has allowed her to overcome them all.

In spite of life's circumstances, the sexual and physical abuse, bad marriage, divorce, being a teen mom, her past pain has pushed her into purpose and today she's Dr. Pullum. Her relationship with God has allowed her to survive, maintain her sanity and somehow move pass the pain. "I know today that the pain was all a part of my purpose and I use my story to help as many people as I can to fight through the pain and free themselves", says Dr. Catrina Pullum. Many aspects of her story she never revealed for an assortment of reasons, however, she has finally found a meaningful purpose for making these revelations, to help herself and others to heal. Breaking the Chains: From Hurting to Healing is her personal journey to healing, written by Catrina not just for herself, but as a voice in the darkness, for so many more to be healed.
